INTRODUCTION

Myrtle Zachary Jackson founded Not Jus' Donuts Bakery in 2000, alongside her daughters, as a single-unit retail bakery nestled near Downtown.

With a deep commitment to quality, Ms. Myrtle set out to provide delicious baked goods for all occasions—especially her renowned wedding cakes.

Baking was in Myrtle's DNA. Raised in a family of talented cooks and bakers, she developed a true passion for creating heavenly desserts. Many of her recipes have been passed down through generations—some dating back nearly 180 years.

The inspiration to start the bakery came after the passing of her father. Left without a legacy or inheritance, Myrtle made a powerful decision: she would be the last Zachary to go without leaving something meaningful behind. With this vision in mind, she set out to build a legacy—not just for her children, but for future generations.

Myrtle's legacy continues on after her untimely passing in 2021. Andrea Jackson is now continuing her mother's legacy with the same love and passion.

"Ms. Myrtle's shares the sweet traditions she grew up with, offering not just desserts, but a slice of history and love in every bite."
