Why I Wrote This Book

I am more than eleven years into Recovery, and I still practice meditation and gratitude every day. I started early because someone told me, “If you have gratitude, you will not drink or use.” That has held true for me, one day at a time.

This journal gives you the same practice, structured for ninety days, a few minutes each morning and each night.

Recovery didn’t give me the key to heaven. It gave me the key to the door out of hell, a door locked from the inside.

Stephen Deason

How This Works

Use this book twice a day. The left page is for the morning and the right page is for the night. Each one takes about five minutes.

Open it at the same point in your day, right after something you already do, like pouring coffee or brushing your teeth. Keep a pen inside the cover.

The check-in takes seconds. Write how many hours you slept, then circle one number for your body (how it feels: aches, energy, sickness) and one for your mind (your mood and thoughts), where 1 is rough and 5 is good.

Each morning page has a line to read, a quick check-in, a gratitude question, your plan for staying sober today, and an affirmation to read out loud. Some days gratitude may look like a sandwich, a locked door, a call you answered, or an hour you got through without making things worse. All of that counts.

Each night page asks for three good things that happened and what made each one happen. It also has a short check on how you felt, a place to note cravings, and one question to think about before bed.

Every seventh day there is a weekly review. At Days 30, 60, and 90 there is a longer reflection. Read the pages it asks you to read before you start writing.

If you miss a day, go to the next blank page. A skipped page resets nothing, and nobody is grading this. On a hard day, fill in the check-in and one line. That counts.

This book is yours and it is private. Keep it somewhere safe. Use initials or shorthand for anything you would not want someone else to read.

Safety and Getting Help

This journal supports recovery. It does not replace a doctor, a counselor, treatment, or your support group.

Stopping alcohol, benzodiazepines, and some other drugs suddenly can cause dangerous withdrawal. Get medical advice before you stop. If you do not have a doctor, a community health center can see you even without insurance, and charges based on what you earn. Find one at findahealthcenter.hrsa.gov.

Call 911 or go to an emergency room for a seizure, hallucinations, confusion, chest pain, or vomiting you cannot stop.

If you are thinking about suicide, or you are in crisis:

Call or text 988

988 Suicide and Crisis Lifeline. Free, confidential, 24 hours a day. It helps with substance use crises too. You can also chat at 988lifeline.org. For Spanish, press 2. Veterans, press 1.

SAFETY AND GETTING HELP

If you have used opioids

After even a few days without opioids, your body loses tolerance. An amount you used to take can now stop your breathing. If you use again, do not use alone, use much less, and keep naloxone (Narcan) where someone with you can reach it. Naloxone nasal spray is sold without a prescription.

Medication can help

Medications treat opioid and alcohol use disorders. Doctors, nurse practitioners, and telehealth providers can prescribe buprenorphine for opioid use disorder where state law allows. Ask a community health center or the helpline below.

Free help finding treatment

The SAMHSA National Helpline gives free, confidential referrals 24 hours a day, including to programs for people without insurance:

1-800-662-4357

You can also text your ZIP code to 435748, or search FindTreatment.gov.

Write the names and numbers of the people you can call on the next page and on page 241. Free support groups and online meetings are listed on pages 242 and 243.

Who knows I am starting this journal?

What I will say when I call for help:

If there is no one to write here yet, call or text 988. The counselors there help with substance use crises too. Emergency: 911.

Where I Am Starting

Fill in these pages before Day 1. Come back to them whenever you need to.

Today's date:

Why now? What made you decide to start?

What do you want to be different 90 days from now?

WHERE I AM STARTING

The times, places, and people that are risky for me:

What I will do instead:

What I will do in the first ten minutes of a craving:

Building the Habit

A habit forms when you do the same thing in the same place at about the same time, again and again. This journal works best when you tie it to something you already do every day.

Pick your anchors now: one in the morning, like making coffee, and one at night, like brushing your teeth. Keep the book where the anchor happens, with a pen inside it.

Start small. On a bad day, the check-in and one line is a full day.

If you miss a day, do not start over. Turn to the next blank page and keep going. How long a habit takes to form varies a great deal from person to person, and one missed day does not undo the work you have done.

BUILDING THE HABIT

My morning anchor:

After I

I will open this book.

My night anchor:

After I

I will open this book.

Where this book will live:

On a hard day, I will at least:

The person I will tell that I am doing this:

My reason for doing this, in one sentence:

90 Days at a Glance

Each night, fill in or mark the box for that day. Mark it for any day you opened this book, even if you wrote one line.

“The beginning is the most important part of any work.”

Plato, The Republic II, trans. Benjamin Jowett (1871)

Today has one job. Get to tonight without using, and let everything else wait until tomorrow.

Slept ____ hours Body 1 2 3 4 5 Mind 1 2 3 4 5

Circle one each. Body: how you feel physically. Mind: your mood. 1 = rough, 5 = good.

What is one thing you have this morning that you did not have a week ago?

Today I will stay sober by (one action, with a time or a name):

Which hour today is most likely to be hard? What will you do in that hour?

Read this out loud once:

I can get through the next hour.

Three good things today, and what made each one happen:

1.

What made it happen:

2.

What made it happen:

3.

What made it happen:

Today I felt (circle any): hungry angry lonely tired

What I did about it:

A craving: time _____ where _____ strength 1 2 3 4 5

What I did:

Sober today? (circle one) Yes Not today (turn to page 240 tonight)

Who helped you today, even a little?

Tomorrow's first action:

"We are what we repeatedly do. Excellence, then, is not an act, but a habit."

Will Durant, The Story of Philosophy (1926), summarizing Aristotle

Early recovery often brings strong hunger, especially for sweets. Eat regular meals today, and keep something simple within reach.

Slept ____ hours Body 1 2 3 4 5 Mind 1 2 3 4 5

Circle one each. Body: how you feel physically. Mind: your mood. 1 = rough, 5 = good.

What did you eat yesterday that was good for you? Who made it or paid for it?

Today I will stay sober by (one action, with a time or a name):

When will you eat your next real meal, and what will it be?

Read this out loud once:

I will eat something before I decide anything.

Three good things today, and what made each one happen:

1.

What made it happen:

2.

What made it happen:

3.

What made it happen:

Today I felt (circle any): hungry angry lonely tired

What I did about it:

A craving: time _____ where _____ strength 1 2 3 4 5

What I did:

Sober today? (circle one) Yes Not today (turn to page 240 tonight)

What did you eat today, and how did your body feel afterward?

Tomorrow's first action:

“Early to bed and early to rise, makes a man healthy, wealthy, and wise.”

Benjamin Franklin, Poor Richard's Almanack (1735)

Sleep can stay rough for a while after you stop. A set bedtime and a dark room help more than lying awake watching the clock.

Slept ____ hours Body 1 2 3 4 5 Mind 1 2 3 4 5

Circle one each. Body: how you feel physically. Mind: your mood. 1 = rough, 5 = good.

Name one thing about the place you sleep that you are glad to have.

Today I will stay sober by (one action, with a time or a name):

What time will you go to bed tonight, and what will you do in the hour before?

Read this out loud once:

I can rest tonight even if I do not sleep well.

Three good things today, and what made each one happen:

1.

What made it happen:

2.

What made it happen:

3.

What made it happen:

Today I felt (circle any): hungry angry lonely tired

What I did about it:

A craving: time _____ where _____ strength 1 2 3 4 5

What I did:

Sober today? (circle one) Yes Not today (turn to page 240 tonight)

How did you sleep last night, and what would help tonight?

Tomorrow's first action:

“Nothing, Lucilius, is ours, except time.”

Seneca, Letter 1, trans. Richard Gummere (1917)

You do not have to fix last year or plan next year this morning. Get through today, and do it on purpose.

Slept ____ hours Body 1 2 3 4 5 Mind 1 2 3 4 5

Circle one each. Body: how you feel physically. Mind: your mood. 1 = rough, 5 = good.

What is one ordinary thing that worked for you yesterday?

Today I will stay sober by (one action, with a time or a name):

What is one thing you will not do today, and what will you do in its place?

Read this out loud once:

Today is the only day I have to get through.

Three good things today, and what made each one happen:

1.

What made it happen:

2.

What made it happen:

3.

What made it happen:

Today I felt (circle any): hungry angry lonely tired

What I did about it:

A craving: time _____ where _____ strength 1 2 3 4 5

What I did:

Sober today? (circle one) Yes Not today (turn to page 240 tonight)

What was the hardest moment today, and how did you get through it?

Tomorrow's first action:

“The great thing, then, in all education, is to make our nervous system our ally instead of our enemy.”

William James, The Principles of Psychology (1890), ch. IV

Your body started repairing itself the day you stopped. Water, food, and rest give it what it needs to keep going.

Slept ____ hours Body 1 2 3 4 5 Mind 1 2 3 4 5

Circle one each. Body: how you feel physically. Mind: your mood. 1 = rough, 5 = good.

Which part of your body feels a little better than it did on Day 1?

Today I will stay sober by (one action, with a time or a name):

How much water will you drink today, and when?

Read this out loud once:

My body is healing. Water and food help it.

Three good things today, and what made each one happen:

1.

What made it happen:

2.

What made it happen:

3.

What made it happen:

Today I felt (circle any): hungry angry lonely tired

What I did about it:

A craving: time _____ where _____ strength 1 2 3 4 5

What I did:

Sober today? (circle one) Yes Not today (turn to page 240 tonight)

What did your body tell you today?

Tomorrow's first action:

"I exist as I am, that is enough."

Walt Whitman, "Song of Myself," Leaves of Grass (1855)

Notice one good thing today that you can taste or hear. Small pleasures count in early recovery.

Slept ____ hours Body 1 2 3 4 5 Mind 1 2 3 4 5

Circle one each. Body: how you feel physically. Mind: your mood. 1 = rough, 5 = good.

What did you taste or smell yesterday that you liked?

Today I will stay sober by (one action, with a time or a name):

Where will you be this afternoon, and who will be there?

Read this out loud once:

I do not have to solve my whole life today.

Three good things today, and what made each one happen:

1.

What made it happen:

2.

What made it happen:

3.

What made it happen:

Today I felt (circle any): hungry angry lonely tired

What I did about it:

A craving: time _____ where _____ strength 1 2 3 4 5

What I did:

Sober today? (circle one) Yes Not today (turn to page 240 tonight)

What surprised you about today?

Tomorrow's first action:

“Rather than love, than money, than fame, give me truth.”

Henry David Thoreau, Walden (1854)

A week ago this book was blank. Seven days of pages now sit behind this one, and you wrote all of them.

Slept ____ hours Body 1 2 3 4 5 Mind 1 2 3 4 5

Circle one each. Body: how you feel physically. Mind: your mood. 1 = rough, 5 = good.

Who has fed you or given you a ride this week?

Today I will stay sober by (one action, with a time or a name):

What will you do this evening between dinner and bed?

Read this out loud once:

I kept going this week. That counts.

Three good things today, and what made each one happen:

1.

What made it happen:

2.

What made it happen:

3.

What made it happen:

Today I felt (circle any): hungry angry lonely tired

What I did about it:

A craving: time _____ where _____ strength 1 2 3 4 5

What I did:

Sober today? (circle one) Yes Not today (turn to page 240 tonight)

What was the best part of this first week?

Tomorrow's first action:

Sober days this week (circle each): 1 2 3 4 5 6 7

Pages filled in this week: ____ of 14

Missed pages reset nothing. Pick up on the next blank page.

The best hour of my week:

The hardest hour, and what got me through it:

One person I will thank by name this week, and how:

Something I am grateful for this week that I did not see coming:

Is my anchor still working?

Circle one: Yes No If no, my new anchor:

After I

What have you learned about your sleep and eating this week? What will you change next week?

Keep doing next week:

Change next week:

Next week is about the people who help. Start thinking about who they are.

“Optimism is the faith that leads to achievement.”

Helen Keller, Optimism (1903)

Recovery is easier with other people in it. Today, let one person know how you are doing.

Slept ____ hours Body 1 2 3 4 5 Mind 1 2 3 4 5

Circle one each. Body: how you feel physically. Mind: your mood. 1 = rough, 5 = good.

Who picked up the phone for you recently?

Today I will stay sober by (one action, with a time or a name):

Who will you talk to today, and at what time?

Read this out loud once:

I can ask one person for help today.

Three good things today, and what made each one happen:

1.

What made it happen:

What I did:

Sober today? (circle one) Yes Not today (turn to page 240 tonight)

Who did you talk to today, and what did you talk about?

Tomorrow's first action:

“When you have faults, do not fear to abandon them.”

Confucius, Analects I.8, trans. James Legge (1861)

People who tell you the truth are worth keeping close, even when what they say is hard to hear.

Slept ____ hours Body 1 2 3 4 5 Mind 1 2 3 4 5

Circle one each. Body: how you feel physically. Mind: your mood. 1 = rough, 5 = good.

Name someone who told you the truth when it was hard to hear.

Today I will stay sober by (one action, with a time or a name):

Whose number will you keep where you can find it fast today?

Read this out loud once:

I do not have to do this alone.

Who do you trust most right now, and why?

Tomorrow's first action:

“No man is an island, entire of itself.”

John Donne, Devotions upon Emergent Occasions (1624), modernized spelling

If someone has stayed in your corner through all of this, today is a good day to tell them you noticed.

Slept ____ hours Body 1 2 3 4 5 Mind 1 2 3 4 5

Circle one each. Body: how you feel physically. Mind: your mood. 1 = rough, 5 = good.

Who in your life has never given up on you?

Today I will stay sober by (one action, with a time or a name):

Who could you sit with at lunch or on a break today?

Read this out loud once:

I can tell someone how I am really doing.

Who did you wish you could talk to today?

Tomorrow's first action:

“No one is useless in this world who lightens the burden of it to any one else.”

Charles Dickens, Our Mutual Friend (1865)

Honesty gets easier with practice. Start with one person and one true sentence.

Slept ____ hours Body 1 2 3 4 5 Mind 1 2 3 4 5

Circle one each. Body: how you feel physically. Mind: your mood. 1 = rough, 5 = good.

Who was kind to you this week without being asked?

Today I will stay sober by (one action, with a time or a name):

What will you say if someone asks how you are really doing?

Read this out loud once:

I can be honest with one person today.

Three good things today, and what made each one happen:

When were you honest today when it would have been easier not to be?

Tomorrow's first action:

“Although the world is full of suffering, it is full also of the overcoming of it.”

Helen Keller, Optimism (1903)

Somebody has already walked the road you are on. Their story can help you if you ask to hear it.

Slept ____ hours Body 1 2 3 4 5 Mind 1 2 3 4 5

Circle one each. Body: how you feel physically. Mind: your mood. 1 = rough, 5 = good.

Whose recovery story has helped you, and what did it show you?

Today I will stay sober by (one action, with a time or a name):

Where is a group, class, or appointment you can get to this week?

Read this out loud once:

Other people have done this. I can learn from them.

Three good things today, and what made each one happen:

What I did:

Sober today? (circle one) Yes Not today (turn to page 240 tonight)

What did you learn from someone else today?

Tomorrow's first action:

“Trust thyself: every heart vibrates to that iron string.”

Ralph Waldo Emerson, Self-Reliance (1841)

Accepting help is a skill. Saying thank you is enough; you do not owe anyone an apology for needing it.

Slept ____ hours Body 1 2 3 4 5 Mind 1 2 3 4 5

Circle one each. Body: how you feel physically. Mind: your mood. 1 = rough, 5 = good.

What is one thing someone taught you that you still use?

Today I will stay sober by (one action, with a time or a name):

Who can you text before noon?

Read this out loud once:

I can accept help without apologizing for it.

Who could you have asked for help today? What stopped you?

Tomorrow's first action:

"A friend is a person with whom I may be sincere."

Ralph Waldo Emerson, "Friendship" (1841)

By now you can probably name at least one person who helped you.
Write that name where you will see it tonight.

Slept ____ hours Body 1 2 3 4 5 Mind 1 2 3 4 5

Circle one each. Body: how you feel physically. Mind: your mood. 1 = rough, 5 = good.

Whose voice would you want to hear on your hardest night? Why that person?

Today I will stay sober by (one action, with a time or a name):

Who will you check in with tonight before bed?

Read this out loud once:

I have people. I will call one of them.

Keep doing next week:

Change next week:

Next week is about cravings and hard hours. Plan for them before they arrive.

“It is not the man who has too little, but the man who craves more, that is poor.”

Seneca, Letter 2, trans. Richard Gummere (1917)

A craving rises, peaks, and falls. Most pass if you wait them out and keep your hands busy.

Slept ____ hours Body 1 2 3 4 5 Mind 1 2 3 4 5

Circle one each. Body: how you feel physically. Mind: your mood. 1 = rough, 5 = good.

What is one thing you did not have to buy, hide, or lie about yesterday?

Today I will stay sober by (one action, with a time or a name):

What time of day have cravings been strongest? What is your plan for that time today?

Read this out loud once:

A craving rises and falls. I can wait it out.

What did you do today in place of using?

Tomorrow's first action:

"The best way out is always through."

Robert Frost, "A Servant to Servants" (1914)

You are allowed to leave any place that feels unsafe. Having a way out before you arrive makes leaving easier.

Slept ____ hours Body 1 2 3 4 5 Mind 1 2 3 4 5

Where did you see progress today, even if it was slow?

Tomorrow's first action:

*“The mind is its own place, and in itself
Can make a Heaven of Hell, a Hell of Heaven.”*

John Milton, Paradise Lost (1667), I

How you see a day shapes how you live it. Before you sleep, look for what went right.

Slept ____ hours Body 1 2 3 4 5 Mind 1 2 3 4 5

Circle one each. Body: how you feel physically. Mind: your mood. 1 = rough, 5 = good.

What looked bad at first this month and turned out fine?

Today I will stay sober by (one action, with a time or a name):

What could go wrong today, and how will you handle it?

Read this out loud once:

I can change how I see my day.

Three good things today, and what made each one happen:

1.

What made it happen:

2.

What made it happen:

3.

What made it happen:

Today I felt (circle any): hungry angry lonely tired

What I did about it:

A craving: time _____ where _____ strength 1 2 3 4 5

What I did:

Sober today? (circle one) Yes Not today (turn to page 240 tonight)

What looked like a bad day and turned out all right?

Tomorrow's first action:

“All shall be well, and all shall be well, and all manner of thing shall be well.”

Julian of Norwich, Revelations of Divine Love, trans. Grace Warrack (1901)

Good enough is good enough. Today does not need to be perfect.

Slept ____ hours Body 1 2 3 4 5 Mind 1 2 3 4 5

Circle one each. Body: how you feel physically. Mind: your mood. 1 = rough, 5 = good.

What is working in your life right now?

Today I will stay sober by (one action, with a time or a name):

What is working well that you want to keep doing today?

Read this out loud once:

Today can be good enough.

Three good things today, and what made each one happen:

What went right today?

Tomorrow's first action:

“Nothing can bring you peace but yourself.”

Ralph Waldo Emerson, Self-Reliance (1841)

Find one quiet minute today. Sit still and let your breathing slow down.

Slept ____ hours Body 1 2 3 4 5 Mind 1 2 3 4 5

Circle one each. Body: how you feel physically. Mind: your mood. 1 = rough, 5 = good.

Where have you found peace in recovery?

Today I will stay sober by (one action, with a time or a name):

Where will you find a quiet minute today?

Read this out loud once:

I can find peace in this hour.

Three good things today, and what made each one happen:

Where did you find peace today?

Tomorrow's first action:

"I am a part of all that I have met."

Alfred, Lord Tennyson, "Ulysses" (1842)

Ninety days. Read Days 1, 30, and 60 before you write today, and notice what has changed.

Slept ____ hours Body 1 2 3 4 5 Mind 1 2 3 4 5

Circle one each. Body: how you feel physically. Mind: your mood. 1 = rough, 5 = good.

What are you most grateful for from these 90 days?

Today I will stay sober by (one action, with a time or a name):

Look back at Days 1, 30, and 60. What will you do today because of what you read?

Read this out loud once:

Ninety days of pages. The next page is still there.

Three good things today, and what made each one happen:

1.

What made it happen:

2.

What made it happen:

3.

What made it happen:

Today I felt (circle any): hungry angry lonely tired

What I did:

Sober today? (circle one) Yes Not today (turn to page 240 tonight)

What are you taking with you into Day 91?

Tomorrow's first action:

Pause Here

You have reached Day 90.

Before you write anything, take a minute. Breathe slowly, and think of one person who helped you get here.

Then turn the page.

Day 90: Then and Now

Before you write, read your Day 1, Day 30, and Day 60 pages.

Which three pages would you show someone on their Day 1, and why?

What has changed most since Day 1?

DAY 90 REFLECTION

What are you still afraid of?

Who will you call first if you are in trouble?

DAY 90 REFLECTION

Which habits from these 90 days will you keep?

What do you want Days 91 to 180 to look like? Continue on The Next 90 Days page.

DAY 90 REFLECTION

Write a letter to yourself one year from today.

DAY 90 • MAP IT OUT

Draw, list, or map anything from the last 30 days: people, places, what helped, what got in the way.

A large grid of dots arranged in 20 rows and 20 columns, providing a space for drawing or mapping.

The Next 90 Days

What will I keep doing every day?

Who will I stay in touch with, and how often?

What will I do on the hard dates in the next 90 days?

THE NEXT 90 DAYS

What am I working toward by Day 180?

What will I do if I notice old patterns coming back?

Where will I keep writing now that this book is finished?

If I Use Again

If you use again, this book does not turn against you. The plan is simple: get safe, reduce harm, tell someone, and get back to care as soon as you can. Then turn to the next blank page.

If you have used opioids: your tolerance is lower now. Do not use alone. Use much less. Keep naloxone (Narcan) nearby, and make sure someone with you knows how to use it.

Fill in this page now, on a steady day, so the plan is ready when you need it.

The first person I will call:

If they do not answer, I will call:

A safe place I can go:

What I will do in the next hour:

Who else needs to know (doctor, counselor, group):

What I will do tomorrow morning:

If you are in danger, call 911. For crisis support, call or text 988.

The Operational Reliability Series

The Weakest Link: A Story About the Systems We Never See

Book I. A business fable about a family caring for an aging parent, and the failures that happen in the handoffs between the people and agencies involved.

The Invisible Architecture: A Story About Senior Care as a System

Book II. The same family returns as care needs grow, and the story widens to show senior care as a system whose structure decides who ends up carrying the work.

The Space Between: Institutional Architecture and Coordination Costs Forthcoming

Book III moves from story toward the system itself: why coordination costs fall on the person least able to refuse them, and how organizations can be designed to carry those costs.

The Family Integrator's Handbook

A workbook for the family member who coordinates a parent's care, with the calls, records, schedules, and decisions organized in one place.

The Paid Last Series

Residual Claimants Forthcoming

The Owner's Arithmetic In development

Capital and Governance Planned

Standalone Titles

Valued: How Purpose-Driven Businesses Can Conquer Addiction and Marginalization in America Forthcoming

Case studies of companies that hire people in recovery and others shut out of work. Each one earns its place in the market by serving customers first, then carries its social mission alongside.
